

Coming at the Vining Theatre

Pauline Frederick, the stage favorite, who made such a success in her initial screen characterization as Donna Roma in the Famous Players Film Company's production of Hall Caine's "The Eternal City," and who, as a result of her success, was induced to devote her exclusive film services to that company, returns to the screen in a five-part adaptation of the celebrated emotional drama, "Sold."

In "Sold" Miss Frederick portrays the sacrificing young wife of a struggling artist who refuses to commercialize his art for his financial betterment. Through a series of powerful climaxes the story reaches the point where the wife arranges to pose for her husband's successful rival in a sensational painting, in order to save him from the destitution which threatens him. The husband, hearing of her act, comes to the studio of the other artist and in a mad fury shoots at the painting of his rival, striking his wife, who is hiding behind the easel.

"Sold" will be shown at the Vining Theatre on Tuesday night of this week only.

A "super-feature" film in nine reels, which is said to outrival that famous Paramount, "The Eternal City," as Paramount's greatest picture, will be shown at the Vining Theatre next Saturday and Sunday with afternoon and matinee and evening shows. George Behan, greatest of all Italian impersonators, who built up a wonderful reputation with his vaudeville sketch, "The Sign of the Rose," is starred in a film adaptation of the sketch.

Miss Freda Nelson, superintendent of the Sanitarium, left Saturday morning for the east. En route she will stop at Seattle, St. Paul, Chicago and Des Moines, her final destination being Moline, Ill. In this last city she is to assist in the equipment of a large hospital which has recently been built. She will spend Christmas with relatives.

Eugene Visitors Here This Week

Seven young men and two young women from the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s of the University of Oregon will spend this week in Ashland as the guests of the young people of the town. They are coming here to do us good and it is going to be our loss if we do not give them a very cordial reception and an earnest hearing.

These people will arrive in Ashland Monday evening, but their first public appearance will be at the armory Tuesday evening, where the basketball team of the party will meet the armory team in basketball. Playing basketball is their method of paying expenses in this extension trip, and all who are interested in their work, or if you just want to see a good game of ball, come to the armory Tuesday evening. And after the game the City Union will tender a reception to the visitors. This will be of an informal nature. Light refreshments will be served, and an opportunity given to meet and talk with the guests of the evening.

Wednesday evening at 7:30, at the Presbyterian church, there will be a union devotional rally, to which all young people and others from the west side of town are invited. There will be some extra music at this meeting and each one of the visitors has a message to bring us. It is going to be worth your while to be at this meeting. Three of the teams are student volunteers for missionary work, and all are enthusiastic workers.

On Thursday night at 7:30 in the Baptist church there will be another union rally similar to the one outlined above, for the people on the east side of town. After the rally we will all go out to the high school building, where the Y. M. C. A. boys will play the high school team. Come out and see the high school team put one over on the visitors. This is their habit, but they will have to work for it Thursday night.

These games and rallies should have the support of all the young people and church people in Ashland. The cause is worth and we need the help and enthusiasm which our visitors will bring us.

Died.

Rachel N. Daley, aged 78, died at the family home at Eagle Point, December 16, infirmities of age being the direct cause of death.

Deceased was one of the pioneers of Jackson county, having located here in 1872, after a residence of eight years in Linn county. She was well known and greatly respected by the old-time residents of this valley, many of whom survive her.

Deceased is survived by a husband, A. J. Daley, and three children, Mrs. Rosetta Potter of Ashland, G. W. Daley of Eagle Point, and J. H. Daley of Medford.

Funeral services were held at the grave in Eagle Point cemetery Saturday at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Carrie L. Cowles, aged 81 years, five months and four days, died at her residence at Portland last Friday and was brought to Ashland for burial. Mrs. Cowles was a former resident of Ashland and lived on Church street for a number of years, afterwards residing in the Minkler residence when it faced on Main street where the Vining Theatre now stands. Several of the members of the Cowles family were buried in Ashland. The funeral was conducted directly from the train Saturday morning. Interment in the family lot in Ashland cemetery.

County Taxpayers' League Formed

Pursuant to call, and in accord with the order of the organizing committee, a meeting of the Jackson County Taxpayers' League convened at the assembly room in the public library in Medford at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, December 18, for the purpose of perfecting the organization and the election of a board of forty directors.

There were present the organization committee and a good representation of Jackson county taxpayers, representing a membership of sixty-eight.

The meeting was called to order by the temporary chairman, J. A. Westlund, who stated the object of the meeting and announced the progress made. A board of forty directors was appointed, the following from Ashland being elected to serve one year: J. W. McCoy, V. O. N. Smith, Benton Bowers, C. B. Lamkin, Leander Nell and George Dunn.

A committee to discuss the county budget for 1916 was appointed as follows: Benton Bowers, James Owens, F. Bybee, J. H. Carlin, J. B. Ware, J. M. Keene, F. V. Medynski, L. Neldermeyer and H. H. Sargent.

It was ordered by motion, offered by V. O. N. Smith, duly seconded, that permanent organization of the board of directors, and the election of officers, be held at a meeting to convene in the assembly hall of the Medford public library on Wednesday, December 29, at 2 o'clock p. m.

Few Property Owners

Fail to carry fire insurance, yet fires are less frequent than defalcations. No man expects his property to burn, but all take precautions against fire.

No employer expects dishonesty among his employees, but experience shows that even the most trusted men often go wrong.

Business concerns may have employees whose dishonesty would cause greater loss than fire, and yet they may not carry insurance against dishonesty. During the past fourteen years the known defalcations totalled $139,278.890.

A corporate fidelity bond in the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co. furnishes the protection.
